Fill the jar by drawing the rocks, pebbles and sand in your life

Large rocks - The five most important things you value in life
Pebbles – The other things you spend time on that matter
Sand – Everything else you fill your time with

What are 3 actions I can take towards prioritising what matters to me? __________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________